FIELD EXPERIENCE

FIELD EXPERIENCE GENERAL POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

FIELD EXPERIENCE PLACEMENTS- Undergraduate field placements are made within San Angelo Independent School District (SAISD). When you enroll in a course that requires field experience you will fill out a short application that will be turned into the Educator Preparation Information Center (EPI Center). On that application you will list three campuses where you would prefer to do your field experience. The Field Experience Advisor will work with SAISD campus administrators to make your placement, taking into consideration your choice of schools. The campus administrator will decide which teachers to assign field experience candidates.

If you would like to do your field experience outside of SAISD you will need to note that on your field experience application and then secure your own placement. A letter from the campus administrator must be provided to the Field Experience Advisor that states you have permission from the campus administration to complete your field experience on their campus.

CRIMINAL BACKGROUND CHECK- If you are doing your field experience in SAISD you must have a criminal background check run and cleared at the beginning of each semester before going onto any SAISD campus. The Field Experience Advisor will provide the information on how to complete a criminal background check at the beginning of each semester to each course that is requiring field experience.

If you will be doing your field experience outside of SAISD you will need to contact the district of choices' Central Administration building to make sure you have followed all the rules and regulations of the district in which you will be doing your field experience.

COOPERATING TEACHER – Cooperating teachers are assigned by the campus principals and are responsible for providing you the level of experience required by the course for which you are enrolled. Your cooperating teacher will give constructive criticism and suggestions for improvement. You should accept the criticism graciously and try out the teacher's suggestions.

GRADING – Your professor is responsible for the evaluation of your work and the issuance of your course grade. If you do not complete your required field experience the result will be a failing grade.

SCHEDULE – Once you receive the contact information for your cooperating teacher you will contact your teacher to work out an observation schedule that works for the both of you to start your observations. If a course requires you to observe ten hours a semester you are expected to observe one hour a week for ten weeks. If you are required to observe twenty hours a semester you are expected on your campus two hours a week for ten weeks, etc.

You should arrive on your assigned campus in plenty of time to find parking, sign in at the front office, and make it to your classroom before your scheduled start time. Being early is being on time. If you are scheduled for a one hour observation, that is an entire hour (60min) in the classroom.

ATTENDANCE – You are expected on your assigned campus every week. Your cooperating teacher often will plan activities around you being in the classroom, so make sure you are consistent with your attendance. Being timely and consistent is part of being a professional. If you are unable to make your observation time you need to contact your professor, your cooperating teacher, and the front office of your assigned campus so they will not be expecting you on campus.

LATE ARRIVAL – Normally, there should be no reason for you to be late for scheduled field experience. If the situation is unavoidable, you must notify your professor, your assigned teacher and the front office of your assigned school to notify them you will be late to campus. Excessive late arrivals may result in you not being able to complete your field experience. If you cannot complete your field experience assignment you will receive a failing grade for your enrolled course that is requiring the field experience.

DRESS – Field Experience Candidates are expected to dress professionally and conform to the expected dress code of classroom teachers. Good grooming and personal cleanliness are particularly important to all teachers. Remember to dress appropriately for the teaching activities you will be performing. For example, do not wear a waist length shirt if you will be writing on the board.

ACTIVITIES- The level of field experience required is dependent upon the course in which you have enrolled. Your course syllabus and your professor will discuss the level of field experience required for the specific course. You will then work with your Cooperating Teacher to achieve the level of field experience required. Some courses will require that you actively observe. Active observation means that you might sit with a small group or next to one child while observing what the teacher is doing throughout the classroom. An active observation does not mean that you sit in the corner and do nothing.

FIELD EXPERIENCE BEHAVIORS AND ATTITUDES

The Field Experience Candidate is expected to adhere to the Teaching Dispositions of Angelo State University and the Code of Ethics and Standard Practices for Texas Educators.

SCHOOL – It is up to each field experience candidate to adjust to the school where they have been assigned rather than to expect the school to adjust to the field experience candidate. Be sensitive to the standards of the school and community; conduct yourself accordingly. Make an attempt to introduce yourself to other faculty and administrators on your campus. Find out the policies of the school. Obey school regulations. If the administrator or faculty member should confide in you, the comments are confidential. Keep all information about students confidential and report only to authorized personnel. In short, be a good listener and control any impulse to engage in gossip. Be sensitive and tactful in your contributions to conversations.

EMPLOYEES – Cooperate with the administration, faculty and staff. This will broaden your experience and give you an opportunity to make contributions of some significance that will be appreciated by the school. Join in, but be cautious when making comments and conversation.

STUDENTS – Show genuine interest in the students. Learn to know your students as individuals. Learn their names, and their backgrounds-as quickly as possible. Be cheerful and friendly in your dealings with individuals and groups. Be consistent, fair and impartial. Do not concern yourself with trying to make the students like you.

STUDENT TEACHING

The student teaching assignment is the most important field-based experience for the potential professional educator. The purpose of the teacher education program at Angelo State University is to develop well-rounded beginning teachers who are prepared in their subject fields and have had pertinent and practical experience in all phases of teacher education. Several field-based courses provide pre-student teaching experiences leading to a fulltime student teaching experience.

During the fulltime student teaching semester, experiences will be developed, implemented, and evaluated by the student teaching “team” comprised of the university supervisor, the public school cooperating teacher and the student teacher. The “team” will work cooperatively in order to develop a positive and effective student teaching experience. Some academic departments for secondary teacher certification will also request specific assessments of student teacher skills from the public school teacher.

As a student teacher, you will experience apprehension, excitement, and a variety of other emotions as you enter this semester. These are all to be expected; however, we believe that you have the preparation and the potential to be successful. It will be challenging as you gradually assume the responsibilities of a professional. When you engage this challenge, you will be accepting an obligation to the public school students and their classroom teachers.

STUDENT TEACHING GENERAL POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

Policies and procedures that regulate student teachers, both written and implied, will be found in locations throughout this handbook, the university bulletin, and other publications. Each candidate is assigned to a university supervisor who will work directly with the student teacher during the fulltime student teaching experience.

STUDENT TEACHING PLACEMENT- Your student teaching placement will be made in a Texas Accredited public school for a fourteen-week student teaching experience. The student teaching placement is determined based on your previous field experience work. The Field Experience Advisor evaluates each candidate's field experience history to determine placement for student teaching to insure the candidate has experience working with diverse student populations.

CRIMINAL BACKGROUND CHECK- If you are doing your student teaching in SAISD you must have a criminal background check run and cleared at the beginning of your student teaching semester before going onto any SAISD campus. The Field Experience Advisor will provide the information on how to complete a criminal background check before student teacher orientation.

If you will be doing your student teaching outside of SAISD you will need to contact your assigned districts' Central Administration building once you have received your placement to make sure you have followed all the rules and regulations of the district in which you will be doing your student teaching.

STUDENT TEACHING TEAM – There are several people who will help guide you during your student teaching experience. Since your performance will be evaluated by your university supervisor and your cooperating classroom teacher, your responsibility is to fulfill the requirements set forth by both of them. You will be evaluated in many areas such as: planning, teaching, assessment, attitude, enthusiasm, classroom management, relationships with others, and willingness to participate in activities outside the classroom. Performance expectations for all areas are detailed in rubric format in your online portfolio using TaskStream.

Other important members of your support team include your campus principal, campus teachers, fellow student teachers, and the ASU Field Experience Advisor. You will be asked to observe and/or interview staff and faculty members on your campus. Your student teaching experience should include learning about school operations that occur outside of your classroom because those activities directly affect your students. Student teaching is your chance to see how all the pieces of the public school life fit together.

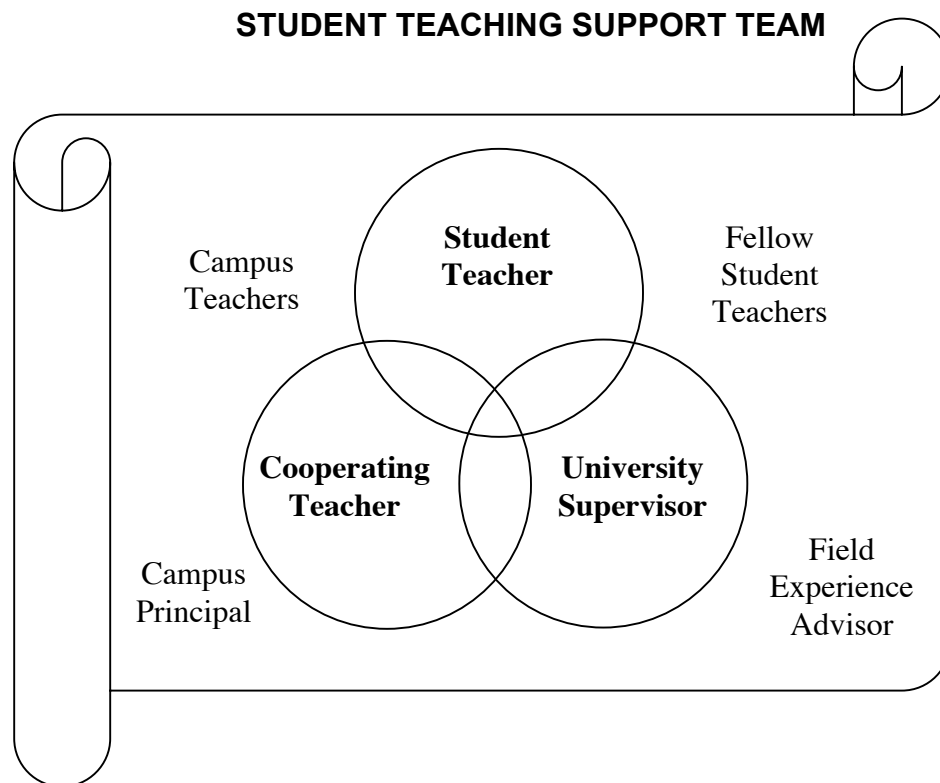

The campus principal will treat you as if you are an employee. If you should have a problem with a student or parent that cannot be resolved by your classroom teacher, the principal will step in and help with the situation. The principal is there to support you in your effort to become a teacher.

The Field Experience Advisor will be available to handle any situations that cannot be resolved by the university supervisor. It is very important that you follow the proper chain of command in order to report problems. Always give your university supervisor a chance to work with you to solve a problem before coming to the Field Experience Advisor; however, if you think you need to speak with the Advisor in confidence, please do not hesitate to do so.

Although it is crucial that you establish good working relationships with your other support team members, the most important relationships are with your immediate team members: your university supervisor, the cooperating teacher and yourself.

COOPERATING TEACHER – Cooperating teachers have a minimum of three years teaching experience and are Texas Certified Teachers. They are assigned by the campus principals and are responsible for easing you into your teaching responsibilities. Your cooperating teacher will give constructive criticism and suggestions for improvement. You should accept the criticism graciously and try out the teacher’s suggestions. The cooperating teacher is a key person in assisting the student teacher to make the transition from student teaching to the first teaching position. Student teaching is basically the avenue through which the student teacher advances from theory to practice.

The only way to establish a successful relationship with your cooperating teacher is through effective communication. If you do not understand what your teacher is asking you to do, ask for clarification. If you still do not understand, ask again. Keep the lines of communication open and flowing freely or you may both become frustrated and unhappy resulting in a negative student teaching experience. If you have discussed your concerns with your cooperating teacher and the relationship does not improve, tell your university supervisor about the problems you are having.

UNIVERSITY SUPERVISOR – The role of the university supervisor is to serve as a facilitator for the implementation of the student teaching program. Acting as the liaison between Angelo State University and the public schools, university supervisors maintain proper communication with the Field Experience Advisor, campus principals, cooperating teachers, and student teachers.

Your university supervisor will visit you four-six times during the semester. The supervisor may observe you teaching a lesson, check your portfolio, attend a benchmark meeting, or visit with you and/or your classroom teacher to see how you are doing.

It is your responsibility to keep your university supervisor advised of any situation, both good and bad, that happens during student teaching. For instance, if you have a problem with a student or parent, inform your university supervisor even if the classroom teacher or campus principal resolves the problem. The supervisor needs to be aware of any incidents that could affect your successful completion of student teaching. If you are late or absent, you must contact your classroom teacher as well as your university supervisor. Above all, always communicate your successes, needs, or fears to your university supervisor. We want you to have a wonderful, positive student teaching experience!

EVALUATION PROGRAM – The evaluation of student teachers is based on the Texas Beginning Educator Support System (TxBess). The TxBess Program Standards are four Clusters broken down into twenty-two standards. Texas teachers are evaluated on the same professional elements presented in a different format. The program used by the State is the Professional Development and Appraisal System (PDAS). You may download and view the Teacher Self-Report Form and Summative Annual Appraisal Form from the Texas Education Agency website at <http://www.tea.state.tx.us/eddev/PDAS/>. Preparation and planning using the professional new teacher standards during student teaching will help you throughout your teaching career. You will know exactly what will be expected from you as a teacher in the State of Texas.

PORTFOLIOS – Student teachers will create an online portfolio during the semester – the Direct Response Portfolio (DRF). The DRF will be started right away. It is an ever-growing reflective and selective collection that includes lesson plans, a reflective journal, and artifacts that may be used to prove performance levels in each of the twenty-two TxBess Standards.

CONFERENCES – You will have four Effects on Student Learning Conferences during the semester to assess your performance up to that point. Each of these conferences has clearly defined outcomes related to the TxBess Standards. You, your cooperating teacher, and your university supervisor will participate in these meetings.

GRADING – Although you will be assessed using four performance levels – Developing, Beginning Competent, Advanced Competent, and Proficient– your final student teaching grade will be either Pass or Fail.

If you receive a score of “Developing” in any area during your benchmark conferences, you will be given an opportunity to correct the area of weakness or withdraw from student teaching with a “W” by the last day to drop a course or withdraw from the university as specified in the university bulletin (catalog). A “Developing” given in any one of the TxBess standards during the final evaluation meeting will result in a failing grade. The final evaluation will be determined based on collaboration between your cooperating teacher and university supervisor. Your university supervisor is your ASU faculty member for the semester and is responsible for determining and reporting the final grade to the university.

GPA NOTE - Because grading is on a Pass/Fail basis, your student teaching grade will not affect your grade point average (GPA) at all; however, you will receive regular grades in the professional development ‘block’ class and that grade will affect your GPA.

DAILY WORK SCHEDULE – Student teachers are required to follow the same work schedule as their assigned classroom teacher. This includes, but is not limited to, faculty meetings, late duty, early duty, and tutoring. Student teachers do not have to participate in extended-day teaching programs. Extended-day instruction occurs after a teacher’s regular workday and compensation is paid to that teacher for the additional hours. Most teachers are required to do regular after-school tutoring and you will be expected to participate in this type of tutoring. If your cooperating teacher teaches after school, be sure to clarify whether the instruction is regular tutoring or extended-day instruction. You may participate in extended-day instruction if you choose, but you are not required to do so, and you will not receive pay.

You should arrive at least 30 minutes in advance of the scheduled student arrival time depending on your level of preparation in the classroom the day before. Always allow yourself enough time to finish classroom preparations so that you are able to greet students as they arrive. If you need to go in earlier, get approval from your cooperating teacher and find out the procedures for earlier arrival.

Although we want you to follow the same daily schedule as your cooperating teacher, this is not always possible. Some teachers tend to stay very late to complete their work and then arrive at the last minute while others come in very early then leave as soon as permitted. You will arrive at school at least 30 minutes before the students arrive every day. You may stay as late as permitted by your cooperating teacher and campus principal but do not leave before the approved departure time.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT (BLOCK) CLASS SCHEDULE – This class is an online class, and the only face-to-face meeting you will have is during student teacher orientation.

ATTENDANCE – The student teacher must follow the public school calendar during the student teaching assignment and is expected to be in school every working day. In the case of any situation in which the student teacher must be absent from school, the cooperating teacher AND the university supervisor MUST be notified prior to the absence or, in the case of an illness or emergency, as soon as you know you will not be on campus. Be sure to leave a set of your lesson plans in the classroom at all times in case you have to be absent. All absences will be documented and must be made up according to a written plan that is jointly developed by the student teacher, the university supervisor, and the cooperating teacher. Excessive absences could result in removal from the program, or a “Developing” rating in the area of professional responsibilities. If a candidate does not make-up absences, an “Incomplete” may be given for the grade and the time will have to be made up after grades are posted for the semester. If you are scheduled to graduate at the end of your student teaching semester, an Incomplete will prevent you from graduating until the following semester, for more information on incomplete grades, please refer to the current ASU bulletin. As a student teacher, your students and cooperating teacher rely on you to be in the classroom every day.

APPROVED ABSENCE MAKE UP ACTIVITIES:

1-3 absences: Absences will be made up with additional days after student teaching.

4-5 absences: These absences will also be made up with additional days after student teaching. In addition, candidates will be required to write a supplemental research paper (3 full pages 12 pt font) for each absence over four.

More than 5 absences: Individual cases will be reviewed by the Field Experience Advisor and the candidate will more than likely be asked to withdraw from the program or receive an “Incomplete.”

LATE ARRIVAL – Normally, there should be no reason for the student teacher to be late for school or other responsibilities. If the situation is unavoidable, the cooperating teacher AND university supervisor must be notified. Excessive late arrivals may result in a “Developing” rating in the area of professional responsibilities. As a teacher, it is crucial that you arrive early enough to prepare your classroom for the day and greet your students as they arrive. If you are not in your classroom when students are scheduled to arrive, you may be held responsible for any incidents that occur.

SUBSTITUTE TEACHING - Angelo State University student teachers cannot be used as substitute teachers. However, in an emergency situation, the student teacher may assume the duties of the teacher for a brief period of time in the classroom provided an adjacent certified classroom teacher supervises and that the university supervisor is contacted. An emergency substitute teaching form must be completed and signed by the campus principal. Principals must make every effort to find a district substitute before using a student teacher in this capacity.

TEACHING – There will be times when your cooperating teacher leaves the classroom so that you can work on your instructional and classroom management skills; however, the teacher should be easy to locate in case of an emergency. Your cooperating teacher should not be participating in any activities outside the classroom that would make it difficult for him or her to respond to an emergency in a timely manner (i.e. off-campus). If you think you are being used as a substitute without consultation, contact your university supervisor immediately.

TEXES CERTIFICATION EXAMS – All candidates must take and pass at least two TExES exams before they can be recommended for teacher certification. Depending on the certificate you are seeking, you will be required to pass an exam in the content area, (i.e. ECH-6 Generalist, 4-8 Reading/Language Arts, 8-12 Math) as well as an exam on pedagogy (Pedagogy and Professional Responsibilities (PPR)). Some certificates may require additional testing (i.e. Special Education, Foreign Languages).

Candidates may take their required content area TExES exam when they have completed all of their major coursework and received approval from the appropriate department. The content area exam may be taken prior to student teaching. When you are approved to student teach you will be approved to take the PPR exam.

If you plan on taking your TExES exams during student teaching please try to schedule them on a weekend so that you do not have to be out of the classroom. If however, you are unable to schedule the exam on a weekend you will be able to take two half-day absences for the purpose of taking your exams. These two half-days are not exchangeable for other absences if you have already taken your TExES exams. They are only allowed for testing. You will be required to provide a copy of your testing ticket as verification that you were taking a test.

DRESS – Student teachers are expected to dress professionally and conform to the expected dress code of the teachers. Good grooming and personal cleanliness are particularly important to all teachers. Remember to dress appropriately for the teaching activities you will be performing. For example, do not wear a waist length shirt if you will be writing on the board. It is recommended that you dress up even more professionally for job fairs, interviews, etc.

MISCELLANEOUS NOTES –

- Personal visitors are not allowed on campus.
- Do not leave campus during the day unless absolutely necessary and approved.
- Eat lunch with other teachers. Do not isolate yourself!

STUDENT PERFORMANCE ACTIVITIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

PROGRAM GUIDELINES FOR STUDENT TEACHERS

These are general guidelines required for all student teachers. Failure to comply in a timely manner with these general guidelines will affect the student teacher's final evaluation. Student teachers will follow these general guidelines during the student teaching term. All written assignments must be completed on time as instructed by your university supervisor.

LESSON PLANS – Detailed written lesson plan preparation is essential for you. Plans for the lessons you are responsible for teaching the following week must be turned in and approved by your cooperating teacher the week prior to teaching the lesson. Make copies of the approved lesson plans to leave in the classroom in case of an absence. If there is an emergency and you have to teach the class but have made no lesson plans, use the cooperating teacher's plans.

WEEKLY TEACHING SCHEDULES – Student teachers are required to provide their university supervisor with a copy of the weekly schedule for planned teaching activities using the form provided in the appendices. University supervisors will use this schedule to plan their visits. Include such things as art, reading specialist, library, computer lab, recess, etc. If any changes occur in your weekly schedule, you must notify your supervisor. Your supervisor works with several other student teachers and it is frustrating to plan visits based on the schedule turned in only to arrive to find that the class is in the computer lab rather than actively involved in a math lesson.

MASTER SCHEDULE AND COOPERATING TEACHER'S SCHEDULE – Each student teacher is to provide the university supervisor with a Master Schedule (Course/Activity) and Cooperating Teacher's Schedule using the form provided in the appendices. Include lunch periods, planning times, conference periods, class meeting times, etc.

WEEKLY ASSESSMENT EVALUATIONS – Weekly assessment evaluations may be used by the cooperating teacher and university supervisors at any time during the assignment to convey the current performance and progress of the student teacher. The purpose of these assessments is largely diagnostic and formative and should be reflected in a benchmark conference. They should assist all concerned in identifying the progress that has been made and identifying those areas that need attention and improvement.

DEPARTMENTAL ASSESSMENTS – Assessments by ASU departments of a student teacher's performance according to identified content standards may be used in selected secondary teaching fields. These assessments are completed by the cooperating teacher at the end of the semester and are generally summative in nature.

GRADE APPEALS – The assignment of a grade in a course is the responsibility of the university supervisor and is based on professional judgment. Candidates having a grievance concerning their grade in student teaching should follow the university Grade Grievance Procedures.

STUDENT TEACHING BEHAVIORS AND ATTITUDES

Unquestionably, student teaching is a learning experience. The student teacher is to develop professional behaviors that are considered desirable and effective for helping pupils learn, to fulfill procedural responsibilities, and to demonstrate interpersonal behaviors that facilitate cooperative and productive relationships with others.

SCHOOL – It is up to each student teacher to adjust to the school where they are student teaching rather than to expect the school to adjust to the student teacher. Be sensitive to the standards of the school and community; conduct yourself accordingly. Be loyal to and support the programs of the campus and school district. Make an attempt to introduce yourself to other faculty and administrators on your campus. Find out the policies of the school. Obey school regulations. If the administrator or faculty member should confide in you, the comments are confidential. Keep all information about students confidential and report only to authorized personnel. In short, be a good listener and control any impulse to engage in gossip. Be sensitive and tactful in your contributions to conversations.

EMPLOYEES – Cooperate with the administration, faculty and staff. This will broaden your experience and give you an opportunity to make contributions of some significance that will be appreciated by the school. Join in, but be cautious when making comments and conversation.

STUDENTS – Show genuine interest in the students. Learn to know your students as individuals. Learn their names, and their backgrounds-as quickly as possible. Learn the regulations for teachers and students in the cooperating school. Make certain that students fully understand what is expected of them. Be cheerful and friendly in your dealings with individuals and groups. Be consistent, fair and impartial. Do not concern yourself with trying to make the students like you. The atmosphere you create can foster a productive or unproductive learning environment, make management and discipline smooth or difficult, and set you up as an effective or ineffective teacher.

COOPERATING TEACHER AND UNIVERSITY SUPERVISOR- Develop a good relationship with your cooperating teacher and university supervisor. Do not hesitate or be afraid to ask for advice. Know definitely what is expected. Consider your cooperating teacher as one who will assist you in becoming a competent teacher. Your university supervisor is available to help you and should be utilized to the fullest extent. Feel free to contact your university supervisor. Be receptive to suggestions, criticism, and praise from your cooperating teacher and university supervisor. Do not limit your participation to classroom activities. Try to participate in all activities and duties expected of classroom teachers.

The following are additional guidelines to assist you with your student teaching responsibilities:

1. Become familiar with school policies and practices and work in a manner consistent with them;
2. Read the Codes of Conduct (for faculty and students) for your assigned district.
3. Become acquainted with the instructional materials available at the school as well as district curriculum guides;
4. Learn the procedures used by the cooperating teacher:
  - a. Attendance/Tardies
  - b. Lunch count
  - c. Makeup assignments
  - d. Hall passes
  - e. Emergency – Fire drill, tornado, etc.
  - f. Health/medication/accommodations
  - g. Classroom discipline procedures

COOPERATING TEACHER RESPONSIBILITY

The cooperating teacher must be a Texas certified teacher and is required to have a minimum of three years teaching experience. The campus administrator assigns the cooperating teachers to student teachers on each individual campus. Some school districts have their central office approve the use of cooperating teachers after the campus administrators have made their selection as a check and balance system.

The school-based cooperating teacher's role is essential and influential in determining the success of the student teacher's teaching experience. As the "teacher of record" the mentor is the role model who, on a daily basis, will instruct, advise, observe, and provide feedback on the effectiveness of the candidates performance in the classroom. In this role the mentor shares pedagogic and supervisory responsibilities with the university supervisor to create a supportive learning environment for the student teacher.

Comments:

Dear Parent or Guardian,

Your child's school has allowed us to place a student teacher in his or her classroom. As part of our ongoing effort to provide quality feedback to our candidates, the student teachers will be required to make a videotape of himself or herself teaching a lesson.

The student teacher will watch the video, write a self-analysis, and then return the video to your child's teacher. Every effort will be made to film only the ASU student teacher, not your child. Please contact me at 942-2520 if you have any questions.

Thank you for supporting tomorrow's teachers!
