Spring registration reminder for ASU Freshmen

For those of you who have not been academically advised for your spring classes, it's not too late! If you have an advising hold on your registration, you need to get advised ASAP. If you have declared a major, you need to go to that department for advising. All undeclared majors are seen through the Office of Academic Advising.

You may also want to check out our website to review the "registration tutorial" for step-by-step instructions at www.angelo.edu/dept/aadvising/.

If you have any additional questions, don't hesitate to contact the Center for Academic Excellence for more information.

Best of luck through finals and enjoy your holiday break!

We offer Academic Advising for Undeclared and Pre-nursing majors.

FRESHMEN who wish to become teachers at the elementary or middle school levels are to see an advisor in the College of Education. Go to the Teacher Education Office in EFA-CARR Bldg. Room 145 to find out who your advisor is. Students who wish to become teachers at the high school level are to see an advisor from their major field (English, History, Art, Music, Kinesiology, Sciences, Modern Language, etc.).
