

Mrs. Alison Evans

Department of English
Angelo State University
325/942-2273 X226
aevans@angelo.edu

---

Education

University of Texas at Dallas, Studies in Literature PhD Program, 2005-2006

- Completed 6 hours

Angelo State University, M.A. English, 2005

Angelo State University, B.A. English, 2001

Secondary Teacher Certification, Region 10 Teacher Preparation and Certification Program (TPC), 2006

---

Teaching Experience

Angelo State University, 2008-present

- English department lecturer
- Teaching English 130C, 1301, 1302

Secondary English Teacher

- Irion County High School, Mertzon, TX
- Teaching English, multiple levels ranging from grade 8-12

Secondary English Teacher

- North Mesquite High School, Mesquite, TX
- Teaching English 3 and English 4

Teaching Assistant and Graduate Assistant/Tutor

- Angelo State University, 2004-2005
  - Teaching Freshman Composition, two sections of English 1301
  - Writing Center at Angelo State University, 2003-2004
  - Tutoring students in multiple areas of composition
-

Professional Presentations

Presider, "Session 3." Angelo State University's 13th Annual Writer's Conference. San Angelo, Texas. February, 2009.

“Culture and the American Stage: Eugene O’Neill’s Character Josie Hogan.” South Central Modern Language Association (SCMLA). Dallas, TX. Oct 2006.

“War of Flesh and Spirit in Samuel Taylor Coleridge’s Christabel.” International Conference on Romanticism. Colorado Springs, CO. Oct 2005.

---

Honors and Awards

Graduate Student Award winner for the Department of English and nominee for the award for the College of Liberal and Fine Arts at Angelo State University, 2005.

WNAAA Scholarship Essay Contest Winner for “Looking Through the Eyes of an Aerial Applicator,” Agricultural Aviation Magazine. January-February 1999: 25-26.

---

Professional Memberships

Association of Texas Professionals

---