POLICE PERSONNEL MANAGEMENT: CRJ 4360

Dr. Randy Hicks randy.hicks@angelo.edu 325-277-1422

Course Objective: The purpose of this course if to provide the student with a basic knowledge of interpersonal relations and communication needed to relate effectively with the management of police organizations, fellow law enforcement personnel and the public. This will be accomplished through meeting the following unit objectives comprising the content of the course.

- Provide an overview the relationship of the police and interpersonal communication training.
- Acquaint the student with principles of communication applicable to the tasks policing.
- Create an awareness of the nature of nonverbal communication and its role in police tasks.
- Alert the student to significant patterns of communication failure and their causes.

Virtually all of the course content will be delivered through lecture-heavily supplemented by video. None of the can be repeated. Do not miss class. No specific textbook is required. Announced mid-term and final examinations will be administered; some unannounced short quizzes may be given over limited specific topics. You will not be formally graded on attendance; missing many classes and lectures will prevent your succeeding in the course. One examination or quiz may be made up at the end of the semester. Be aware that your instructor as a former street-level law enforcement side of criminal justice. Questions or objections should to be taken directly to your instructor for clarification or resolution. As a rule, your instructor will be available to you around the hours of the class-specific information and office location will be given to you during the first week. Also when it necessary, you are welcome to call him on his mobile telephone (325-277-1422). He is there to help you. Your course grade will be determined by the following experience-generated realistic percentages: A-85% or above; B=70-84%; C= 60-69%; D= 50-59% and below is failing. Good grades are relatively not difficult to earn by coming to class and investing some effort.