Course Description: As ASU’s course catalog explains, English 2326 is “a study of diverse works by American writers. Emphasis on reading, comprehending, appreciating, and thinking critically about the selected works within the context of American culture and literary history” (269). The selected works illustrate four major movements in American literature: romanticism, realism, naturalism, and modernism. And they represent four literary genres: novels, drama, short fiction, and poetry.

Learning Outcomes:
Upon completing sophomore literature, students should be able to
1. understand the role of literature as an expression of values and interpretation of human experience
2. understand and apply methods of responding to literature analytically
3. understand the form, function, scope and variety of literature, including specialized terminology
4. understand the interactive relationship between history, culture, and literature.

Sophomore literature outcomes will be measured by various assignments, including the composition of a literary analysis.

Hybrid Course Information—Blog Activity on Fridays: We do not meet in our classroom on Fridays, with the three exceptions of the first Friday of the semester (August 31), the midterm examination review Friday (October 12), and the final examination review Friday (the last day of class, December 7), and on Friday, November 23, we will not have class or a blog because it is Thanksgiving Break. On all of the other Fridays, we will participate online in a blog during our fifty-minute class time, 9:00-9:50 or 10:00-10:50 a.m. depending on your section. For these assignments, please log on to our course blog to post a comment and a reply to classmates’ comments: https://asueng2326fall2018.blogspot.com/

Requirements and Grading: The coursework includes six reading tests, a midterm essay examination, a comprehensive final essay examination, and classroom/blog participation, using this grading rubric:

Midterm---------------------------------------------------------------25%
Reading tests (five out of the six will count for 7% each) ---------35%
Final examination-----------------------------------------------------30%
Classroom/blog participation------------------------------------------10%

100%
Absences for Observance of Religious Holy Day: Students who intend to be absent from class to observe a religious holy day (as defined in ASU O.P. 10.19) must inform the professor in writing prior to the absence and make up any scheduled assignments within an appropriate timeframe determined by the professor. While the absence will not be penalized, failure to complete the make-up assignment satisfactorily and within the required timeframe will result in penalties consistent with other absences and assignments.

Attendance: Students are allowed a total of three unexcused absences without penalty. For each additional unexcused absence, 5 points (1/2 letter-grade) will be deducted from the final course grade. Six or more excused or unexcused absences may be grounds for failing the course. Students are responsible for preparing for the class following any absence and for informing me when they miss roll call because of being late. Being late twice equals one absence.

Policies for Assignments: Make-up midterm and final examinations will be given only in cases of legitimate, documented emergencies. Reading tests cannot be made up, but a student may miss one without penalty because the lowest grade of the six reading tests will be dropped.

Class Activities: To receive credit for the 10% class participation grade, students must be completely prepared with all the assigned reading and must be active in all classroom and online blog activities.

Class Conduct: Sleeping, eating, drinking, using any tobacco product (including chewing tobacco), talking disruptively, habitually forgetting to bring textbooks to class, and using electronic devices are prohibited during class.

Academic Honesty: Angelo State University expects its students to maintain complete honesty and integrity in their academic pursuits. Students are responsible for understanding the Academic Honor Code: http://www.angelo.edu/forms/pdf/Honor_Code.pdf

Students with Disabilities: Students with disabilities that may warrant academic accommodations must contact the Student Life Office, University Center basement, to request them. Students with disabilities are encouraged to make this request early in the semester.

ASU Core Curriculum Objectives for Sophomore Literature and Related Course Assessments

Students in sophomore literature will practice the following core curriculum learning objectives in critical thinking, communication, social responsibility, and personal responsibility. Students will then demonstrate their capabilities in these objectives through reading quizzes, written analyses, reflections, or examinations.

Critical thinking will be demonstrated in reading quizzes, written analyses, or examinations.
- Students will gather, analyze, evaluate, and synthesize information relevant to a question or issue by mastering a series of assigned literary works in terms of generic conventions and content.

Communication will be demonstrated in written reflection on public reading or lecture.
- Students will develop, interpret, and express ideas through effective written communication.

Social responsibility will be demonstrated in written reflection on public reading or lecture.
- Students will demonstrate ability to engage with locally, regionally, nationally, or internationally known literary artists and the texts they create, and to reflect upon the shared traditions of literary expression, the debates that help shape literature, and the conflicts, cultural differences, and shared experiences.

Personal responsibility will be demonstrated in reading quizzes, written analyses, or examinations.
- Students will demonstrate the ability to evaluate choices, actions, and consequences by identifying, analyzing, and evaluating ethical decision-making in literary examples.
