Course Objectives

Course Objectives
Business today is by all measures -- global. No business or industry of any size is immune from the global environment. Even small businesses that purchase and sell only in the U.S. are subject to competition from products coming into the U.S. from overseas or from global issues when their suppliers or consumers become global. Therefore, the global environment affects even employees of such companies. Understanding the global economy and demonstrating respect for diversity and cultural differences, therefore, is necessary for all engaged in business and careers, regardless of the size or type of business or career endeavor.

These objectives can only be achieved through a joint effort: I will work to stimulate your interest and learning in these areas, but you will be expected to display initiative and a program of self-study as well. In that sense, a complementary objective of the course is to provide you with an environment that will encourage and reward your own intellectual effort, while simultaneously maintaining rigorous standards that identify those who are motivated to pursue excellence in their own educational preparation for a business career.

The objectives for this course are for you to:

- LG3a: Demonstrate knowledge of contemporary business theory and practice in both domestic and global settings; and
- LG5: Demonstrate respect for diversity and cultural differences in both domestic and global settings

Method of Assessing Learning Outcomes

Course content will be posted weekly on Blackboard for self-paced learning.

Core student learning outcomes will be assessed through embedded questions in quizzes, two exams and a final project.

- A final project will assess the competencies in understanding international business as well as logical and creative thinking.

*There will be a discussion topic for some chapters. Bonus points can be added to your final grade for participating in discussion on the topics.

Exams

The midterm and final exams will generally involve about 30 – 50 multiple-choice questions. Exams are from 6:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. on the scheduled date. You MUST take the exams during these time windows. Please keep in mind that being prepared and taking the tests during the allocated times is your responsibility. The tests are on the schedule and I urge you to mark them on your calendar now. Missing a scheduled test without approval will result in a zero for that test.

The burden of proof is upon the student to demonstrate the appropriateness of the appeal. A student with a complaint about a grade is encouraged to first discuss the matter with the instructor.
