Course Syllabus and Policy Requirement Statement

In order to access your course materials, you must agree to the following, by clicking the “Mark Reviewed” button below.

By checking the "Mark Reviewed" link below, you are indicating the following:

- You have read, understood, and will comply with the policies and procedures listed in the class syllabus, and that you have acquired the required textbook(s).
- You have read, understood, and will comply with class policies and procedures as specified in the online Student Handbook.
- You have read, understood, and will comply with computer and software requirements as specified with Browser Test.
- You have familiarized yourself with how to access course content in Blackboard using the Student Quick Reference Guide or CSS Student Orientation Course.

SEC 6335 Security Issues in the Middle East I

Course Description/Overview

This course examines key security issues affecting U.S. national interests in the Middle East. The course analyzes the history, culture, religion, geography and demographics of the region. The course will also examine the dynamics of interaction between the Middle East and the West. Key security issues the course will address include, but are not limited to, the Middle East peace process, Persian Gulf security, access to Middle East petroleum reserves and the promotion of democracy. The course will explore the nature of jihad in the Middle East, the relationship between religion and state governments. Additionally, questions of ethnic cleansing and human rights will be addressed.

Course Objectives/ Learning Outcomes

As a result of completing this course, the student will be able to:

- Comprehend the key security challenges in the contemporary Middle East
- Analyze the evolution of regional security problems from the Cold War to the current era
- Analyze the strategic challenges that U.S. policy makers face in the area of counter insurgency, terrorism, proliferation of weapons of mass destruction, energy security and regional peace prospects.

Grading Policies

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Assignment</th>
<th>Percent of Grade</th>
<th>Due</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Discussion Thread participation</td>
<td>30%</td>
<td>Occurs in weeks with no written assignment</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>First Essay (Mid term)</td>
<td>30%</td>
<td>Sunday at the end of Week 5 before 2100 hrs. Central Time. 8 - 10 pages</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>------------------------</td>
<td>-----</td>
<td>------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Final Essay</td>
<td>40%</td>
<td>Friday at the end of Week 8 before 2100 hrs. Central Time. 12 - 15 pages</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Angelo State University employs a letter grade system. Grades in this course are determined on a percentage scale:

A = 90 - 100 %
B = 80 - 89 %
C = 70 - 79 %
D = 60 - 69 %
F = 59 % and below.

Discussion

Selected classes have the lists of 2-3 questions, which they are expected to cover using the Blackboard tool during their discussions. The students will be divided into groups within which they are expected to fully cover the aspects raised in the questions. The length of the responses shall not be less than 300 words. There are no discussion questions for the weeks with presentations, mid-term and final paper.

Mid-term

Mid Term Essay due Sunday at the end of Week 5 no later than 9pm.

Final exam

The final exam due Friday of Week 8 no later than 9pm

Course Organization:

Lesson 1:

The Historical-Cultural Context of Middle East Security Issues: Week one examines the rise and fall of the Ottoman Empire and the subsequent European colonization of Arab peoples. We then examine the development of anti-colonial movements in the Middle East and the early Arab struggles with Zionist settlers. Among the issues analyzed are the rise of Pan Arab nationalism, Islamist anti-colonial movements, colonial humiliation, and the early conflicts between Arabs and Jews in Pre Israel Palestine. The section concludes by examining the struggle for national independence in the Middle East, rise of Israel, and the formation of authoritarian Arab regimes and key regional conflicts during the Cold War.

Lesson 2:
War and Conflict in the Middle East: Week two looks at the historical, religious, and political origins of the Arab-Israeli Conflict and the prospects for regional peace and stability. Among the issues explored are the development of the Zionist movement, the impact of the Holocaust on Israel’s formation and the Jewish states conflict with the Palestinians and surrounding Arab states. The section examines the region’s major wars, success and failure of the peace process and assesses the obstacles that remain in the path of a comprehensive and permanent peace in the region. Finally, the formation of a staunchly anti-Israel coalition composed of Iran, Syria, Hezbollah and Hamas are analyzed.

Lesson 3:

Rise of Islamist and Fundamentalist Jihadism: Week three looks at the emergence of the Islamist movement, its conflict with the Pan Arabists and its spawning of radial jihadist ideology and terror networks. At war with both the near enemy (Muslim Apostate governments) and the far enemy (U.S.), the jihadists pose a severe threat to regional stability. Among the case studies examined are Muslim Brotherhood, the Algerian civil war of the 1990’s and the rise of Al Qaeda. The section concludes by assessing the war on terror and its ability to defeat the jihadist movement.

Lesson 4:

Iranian Revolution and Theocratic State: Week four analyzes the origins of the Iranian Revolution of 1979 and the development of Iranian Islamic state. Among the issues analyzed are the Shah’s Rule, the White Revolution 1953-1979, Shia Radicalism and the Iranian Revolution, the domestic and foreign policies of Iran’s Islamic Revolutionary state. The section will conclude by looking at the security challenge of Iranian policy including its quest for nuclear weapons, its opposition to the U.S., desire to destroy Israel and its strategic alliance with Syria, Hamas, and Hezbollah.

Lesson 5:

Persian Gulf, Energy Security and Wars: Week five examines the strategic importance of the Persian Gulf that has been a center of U.S. foreign policy since the Second World War. Among the issues examined are Saudi-U.S. relations, the rise of OPEC, the emergence of Baathist rule in Iraq, Iran and Iraq war and the first Persian Gulf War. The week concludes by assessing the future economic and security challenges for the United States posed by developments in the Persian Gulf.

Lesson 6:

Counter Terror and Insurgency Policy in the Middle East: Week six exams the second Iraq war and the dilemmas of counter insurgency policy faced by American occupation authorities. Among some of the issues examined in this section are the origins of the war, the toppling of Hussein's regime, the emergence of Sunni, foreign Jihadist and Shiite insurgencies, and the evolution of U.S. counter insurgency policy. The section concludes with evaluating Iraq's future as a stable democratic state and its regional security implications.

Lesson 7:

Security Implications of the Arab Spring: Week seven analyzes the emergence of the Arab Spring Movement that is currently convulsing the region. Among the more specific issues examined are the fall of the Tunisian, Egyptian and Libyan governments, and the security challenges the U.S. faces in region convulsed by rapid change and turmoil. Finally, the prospect for the development of stable Arab democratic regimes is assessed and the security implications for U.S. foreign policy are evaluated.

Lesson 8:
Assessment: Final essay is due on Friday no later than 9pm

Course Bibliography and Required Readings:

Books

Walid Phares, The Coming Revolution: The Struggle for Freedom in the Middle East

Noam Chomsky and Ilan Pappe, Gaza in Crisis: Israel's War against the Palestinians

Articles

Amos Yadlin and Avner Golov, "If attacked how would Iran respond?" Strategic Assessment Vol 16, No 3 (October 2013)

Anthony Celso, "Phase IV Operations in the War on Terror: Comparing Iraq and Afghanistan" (Orbis: Spring 2010)

Avi Beker, "Exploring how Post-Zionists manipulate history"

David Barnett and Efraim Karsh, "Azzam's Genocidal Threat" Middle East Quarterly (Fall 2011)

"Hezbollah as a Strategic Arm of Iran" Intelligence and Terrorism Information Center at the Center for Special Studies (2006)

Ken Pollack, "The Fall, Rise and Fall of Iraq" Brookings Paper (July 2013)

Lieutenant Colonel David Kilcullen, "Countering Global Insurgency" article attached to Instructional Narrative: Lesson 6

Michael Eisenstadt, "The Strategic Culture of the Islamic Republic of Iran" MES Monograph August 2011

Marin Indyk, "Back to the Bazaar" in Foreign of Council Relations The New Arab Revolts

Audio Visual

Secular Left Liberal Critique of Islamism: Examining the Work of Paul Berman (week 3)
Communication

Office Hours/ Contacting the Instructor

See the Instructor Information section for contact information.

University Policies

Academic Integrity
Angelo State University expects its students to maintain complete honesty and integrity in their academic pursuits. Students are responsible for understanding and complying with the university Academic Honor Code and the ASU Student Handbook.

Accommodations for Disability
ASU is committed to the principle that no qualified individual with a disability shall, on the basis of disability, be excluded from participation in or be denied the benefits of the services, programs or activities of the university, or be subjected to discrimination by the university, as provided by the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), the Americans with Disabilities Act Amendments of 2008 (ADAAA), and subsequent legislation.

Student Affairs is the designated campus department charged with the responsibility of reviewing and authorizing requests for reasonable accommodations based on a disability, and it is the student's responsibility to initiate such a request by emailing studentservices@angelo.edu, or by contacting:

Office of Student Affairs
University Center, Suite 112
325-942-2047 Office
325-942-2211 FAX

Student absence for religious holidays
A student who intends to observe a religious holy day should make that intention known in writing to the instructor prior to the absence. A student who is absent from classes for the observance of a religious holy day shall be allowed to take an examination or complete an assignment scheduled for that day within a reasonable time after the absence.