Course Description and Objectives

Human trafficking is an international human rights problem that has spread to nearly every region in the world. As a form of modern-day slave trading, exploitation, and physical/psychological abuse, the scope of the problem has reached a boiling point where it is now damaging to a nation's social, political, and economic vitality. In the advanced stages, human trafficking exists as part of some transnational organized crime groups that use profits and routes of ingress and egress to advance weapons and narcotics trafficking. Thus, human trafficking poses a threat to our homeland security.

The slave trade today is considered more global and greater in seriousness than the African slave trade of prior centuries. Traffickers now include transnational organized crime groups and entire social and political structures. Whether trafficked within or between countries, people, primarily women and children, are abused in domestic servitude situations, as prostitutes, manual laborers, factory workers, sex slaves, and even soldiers, often fighting for a cause they do not understand.

This course is designed to provide the student with a comprehensive understanding of global human trafficking and sex trafficking. In addition to an overview of the history of slavery, we will look at global issues, from the perspectives of several continents in the world. We will examine causes and consequences, costs, politics, and culture associated with trafficking. The student is expected to explore the depth and breadth of human trafficking and critically assess the achievements of counterstrategies and human rights policies both here in the United States, and abroad.

Course Requirement and Grading

Reading Notes	150
Small Papers	150

Grading scale:	A:	100-90%	270 – 300 points
	B:	89-80%	240 – 269
	C:	79-70%	210 – 239
	D:	69-60%	180 – 209
	E:	<60%	< 180

Reading Notes

Every week, you will have some book chapters, reports, or articles to read. After reading, you are asked to summarize the 10 most important things that you think of. Use 1 page, single space, Times New Roman, 12 pts, and bullet points. There are 8 week reading material, you can choose 5 weeks to write a summary. If you write more than 5 reading notes, I will pick the highest 5 grades. Each reading note is worth 30 points. See the last page of the syllabi for the deadline of each reading note.

Small Papers

There will be 3 small papers in this course. For each paper, you will be assigned a topic on trafficking and you need to explore the topic and elaborate your own opinion on it. You need to write 1-2 pages for each paper. APA format is required, such as 1-inch margin, double space, Times New Roman, 12 pts, citations if necessary. You can get maximumly 50 points for each small paper. See the last page of the syllabi for the deadline of each small paper. Three topics are listed below:

- (1) Do you support the full legalization of prostitution, or just legalization of sex service but not brothels, or no legalization at all? Explain why.
- (2) Whether stricter boarder control policy or easier boarder control policy will prevent more human trafficking? State your opinion and explain why.
- (3) Pick a country outside the United States, study its anti-trafficking laws or policies and analyze its effectiveness. You may discuss the effectiveness with the trafficking fact/statistics related to this country.

Academic Honesty

Academic dishonesty of any kind (e.g. plagiarism, cheating) will not be tolerated. Students found to have plagiarized or cheated will receive a failing grade for the course. If a cell phone is visible during an exam, the student will receive a zero for that test. There will also be disciplinary actions at the university level. Further information concerning academic honesty can be found at: <http://www.angelo.edu/content/files/17358-university-honor-code>.

Disabled Student Policy and Services for Disabled Students

ASU is committed to the principle that no qualified individual with a disability shall, on the basis of disability, be excluded from participation in or be denied the benefits of the services, programs or activities of the university, or be subjected to discrimination by the university, as provided by the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), the Americans with Disabilities Act Amendments of 2008 (ADAAA), and subsequent legislation.
