Course Information

Course Description
This course is designed to cover in breadth the field of motivation theory in psychology. A variety of theoretical perspectives will be presented, compared and contrasted, and practical applications of these theories will be offered.

Prerequisite Skills
Computer literacy as end-user, standard word processing software

Student Learning Outcomes
The follow learning outcomes are expected:

- Students will be able to describe, compare and contrast core theories in motivation
- Students will be able to critically evaluate fictional and non-fictional portrayals of human behavior within the context of core motivation theories
- Students will be able to identify ways in which the course content can be applied to their own life circumstances to affect positive change

Required Texts and Materials
Grading

Students will be measured according to their performance on the following criteria:

- Examinations (E). Four examinations shall be administered in class including the final. No other activities will occur on test days.
- Application Papers (P). Students shall create a series of papers over the term. Most will require analysis of popular movies through a motivational lens (instructions will be provided for each).
- Quizzes (Q). A series of unannounced quizzes shall be administered at the start of certain class periods.

Grade Calculation Formula

\[ 0.32(E) + 0.28(Q) + 0.40(P) \]

Grading System

The following grading scale is in use for this course (rounding is done to the nearest integer according to standard mathematical rules):

- A = > 90
- B = 80 - 89
- C = 70 - 79
- D = 56 - 69
- F = < 56

Additional criteria governing course grades are as follows:

- You must have a non-zero grade for at least 50% of the quizzes offered. Failure to meet this criteria shall result in automatic failure of the course.
- You must pass (x > 55%) ALL PORTIONS of the course individually. This means your calculated average on tests, quizzes, and papers. Failure to meet these criteria shall result in course failure.

Note that the instructor has the authority to suspend these rules in individual cases where circumstances may dictate. This will ALWAYS be done to ensure that the student receives the fairest grade possible and will NEVER be used to punish students.
Submitting Papers
All papers are submitted through the Assignments tool in Blackboard. Sometimes, things happen with technology. Use the following FAQ to help.

Q: What do I do if I submit the wrong document?
A: Contact me via email to notify me with the correct document attached.

Q: What do I do if the professor tells me that my submission failed (document unreadable, etc.)?
A: If this happens, you will receive a grade of “0” and a note from me that your paper was not readable. Resubmit the assignment via email as soon as possible.

Q: What if Blackboard goes down and I can’t submit?
A: First, contact the Service Center at 942.2911 to inquire about the outage. Open a ticket if necessary. Then, submit as soon as your access is restored.

Q: Can I share a document through Google Docs as a submission?
A: NO. If you do this, I cannot read it. If this happens, you will receive a grade of “0” and a note from me that your paper was not readable. Resubmit the assignment via email as soon as possible but there will be a letter grade penalty.

Late Work or Missed Assignments Policy

TESTS

I must be contacted regarding makeup tests within 7 days of the test date. If this does not occur, the test will be considered “unfinished.” Unfinished exams become a score of “0”.

QUIZZES

Quizzes are not recoverable because they serve as a sampling index of attendance. However, a portion of quiz grades shall be dropped at term’s end to account for absences. If you come into a quiz late (i.e., it has already started), you may submit a paper documenting your lateness to receive credit for attendance, which will be quantified as the lowest possible quiz score.
PAPERS

While papers may be submitted at any time, paper due dates are strict; late work shall be penalized at least 5% per 24-hour period up to a maximum of 60%.

Things NOT To Do

⇒ Cell phones must be turned off or to a silent setting; texting is disallowed.
⇒ Persistent and excessive lateness will not be tolerated. If you consistently arrive to class late, I will ask for a meeting with you. If a quiz has started, you will not be allowed to take it, but you will receive credit for attendance (the lowest quiz score possible).
⇒ The use of personal listening devices during class will not be tolerated.
⇒ While I encourage an open classroom regarding communication, student discussions that become disruptive to the class will not be allowed.

Communication

You may reach me via telephone or email. Email is the preferred communication method. Because I also have administrative responsibilities, it is best to schedule an in-person meeting rather than to rely on office hours.

Student Evaluation of Faculty and Course

Students in all programs are given the opportunity to evaluate their courses and the faculty who teach them. Evaluations are most helpful when they are honest, fair, constructive, and pertinent to the class, clinical experience, or course. Faculty value student evaluations, and use student suggestions in making modifications in courses, labs and clinical experiences. Angelo State University uses the IDEA (Individual Development and Educational Assessment) system administered through Kansas State University for all course evaluations. The Office of Institutional Research and Assessment administers IDEA for the entire university, online and has established a policy whereby students can complete course evaluations free from coercion.

This document constitutes an explicit agreement between the course instructor and the students enrolled in the course. All issues pertaining to the conduct of the course shall be governed by this document, and where it is silent, the course instructor’s discretion shall be binding. If any rules, guidelines, and/or restrictions must be changed during the term, the instructor may do so and will communicate those changes to all students through Blackboard.
