Expected Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course the student will be able to:
1. Express a first-hand perspective of how public policy is formulated.
2. Describe the challenges and rewards of public service; and
3. Exhibit leadership skills tailored to a career in public service.

Methods for Assessing the Expected Learning Outcomes

The expected learning outcomes for this course will be assessed through:
1. Weekly journal entries emailed to mgritter@angelo.edu for the duration of the internship.
2. A final paper assignment.
3. Feedback from the office where the student has worked during the internship period.

Course Assignments/Grade Determination

Preparation:

Students will obtain an internship approved by the Department of Political Science and Philosophy.
Journal:
The intern will keep a journal during the course of their internship. The journal should be emailed to mgritter@angelo.edu weekly by Friday at 11:59pm for the duration of the internship. The journal should consist of a summary of activities from the week. Journals should be approximately 250 words. Journal entries can vary from week to week as far as content; however, a reasonable attempt should be made to provide more than a superficial description of weekly activities.

Office/Performance Evaluation:
Interns will be placed in an approved internship. The intern coordinator will be requested to communicate regularly with Angelo State University and provide feedback on the intern’s performance. An intern’s conduct both in and out of the office is reflective not only on the student, but Angelo State University and his or her office. Improper conduct may result in a failing grade in this course.

Final Assignment:
Each student will write a 5-7 page paper that 1) describes their experience and 2) connects their internship to their political science coursework. The paper will be due July 1, 2020.

Grade Calculation:
- Journal (30%)
- Evaluation (20%)
- Paper (50%)

COURSE POLICIES:
