Course Information

Course Description
This course is open to students who chose the thesis option. Independent, applied research that addresses a significant issue in social work supervised by a member of the social work graduate faculty. This course is designed to assist students in completing their thesis and consists of the completion of an empirical research study, including its design and implementation, the completion of the written thesis document, and defense of the thesis before the student’s thesis committee. (This course may be repeated once for credit.)

Prerequisite and Co-requisite Courses
Enrollment in the MSW program and permission of the department

Prerequisite Skills
This course requires students to have an existing familiarity with and understanding of social work theories as well as the foundational values, ethics, skills, and knowledge base of the profession and be able to apply these at the mezzo- and macro-levels of practice.

General skill-based requirements of this course include: basic computer proficiencies (e.g., accessing Internet websites, using online and on-campus library resources, and familiarity with Microsoft Office programs) and the ability to understand and apply the formatting and style guidelines of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (7th ed.).

Course Delivery
This course is delivered face-to-face with the student and members of the student’s thesis committee.
Required Texts and Materials

Note: All assignments submitted in this course are to be written in strict accordance with the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (7th ed.). If you do not already own the Publication Manual, this is a required text.

Communication
All communication (email or phone) typically receives a response within 24 hours at the latest. Messages sent on weekends and evenings may receive a longer wait for responses than during morning or afternoon hours during the week.

Ask questions and participate in all opportunities for discussion. Graduate learning is dependent upon your synthesis of the material with your existing knowledge base. Active learning improves student outcomes as demonstrated by a well-established evidence base.

Utilize office hours if you have questions or concerns about the material or any other matter that is course-related. I am an important resource to help facilitate your learning, but I can only help when I know that you have questions or concerns. If my office hours are not convenient, I am happy to make an appointment to speak in-person, via phone, or through Blackboard Collaborate at a more convenient time.

Grading
Evaluation and Grades

Teaching Strategies
Students are expected to be “active learners.” It is a basic assumption of the instructor that students will be involved (beyond the materials and lectures presented in the course) discovering, processing, and applying the course information using peer-review journal articles, researching additional information and examples on the Internet, and discussing course material and clinical experiences with their peers.
Assignment Description

Thesis 100%

The thesis requires substantive content and scholarly quality of writing. All drafts as well as the final product must conform to the standards and guidelines of the ASU Graduate School as presented in the latest version of the Thesis Handbook in addition to the APA Publication Manual (7th ed.). The thesis must demonstrate the cumulative knowledge which the student has gained throughout the MSW program and be demonstrated through the completion of the final paper. This includes understanding of scholarly writing and its conventions; substantive knowledge about a specific area of social work displayed through the literature review; familiarity with scholarly research demonstrated by conducting data collection and analysis; and ability to draw conclusions from empirical evidence and make recommendations for further research based on the thesis’ results.
