Required Text:

Behrens, Laurence and Leonard J. Rosen, eds. Writing and Reading across the Curriculum. 13th ed. Longman, 2016. ISBN: 978-0-13-399901-3. Cover image:

Each student is required to have their own copy of our textbook by Wednesday, July 8.

Course Description and Learning Outcomes:

English 1302 helps ASU students develop skills required to accomplish effective academic writing in various disciplines. The writing tasks in the university curriculum share three main objectives: 1) responding to texts, 2) using information, and 3) constructing arguments. This course will enable students to accomplish these objectives more effectively by concentrating on summarizing, paraphrasing, critiquing, and synthesizing. Writing assignments take students methodically through these skills, beginning with a critique and ending with an argumentative research paper, as each assignment builds on the skills developed in preceding assignments.

Requirements and Grading:

The course work includes two 4-page essays, a 2-page research proposal, a 10-12 source annotated bibliography, and a 7-page research paper class discussion. Each student is required to turn in all written assignments to be considered for a passing grade. The final course grade is calculated this way:

Critique-----	15%
Explanatory Synthesis-----	20%
Research proposal-----	10%
Annotated bibliography-----	20%
Research paper-----	35%

Policies for Assignments: Assignments are to be submitted via email as Word documents (linda.kornasky@angelo.edu), and they are due by midnight on the days assigned below. Important warning: if you use Google Docs to write a paper, be sure to send me a downloaded copy of the document rather than sending me a Google docs link. (When you save the document, go to the file menu in the top left corner of the screen, hover the mouse over the download option, and then save the document as either a PDF or a Word document.) The grades of unexcused late assignments are penalized 10 points (one letter grade) per day.

Academic Honesty: Angelo State University expects its students to maintain complete honesty and integrity in their academic pursuits. Students are responsible for understanding the Academic Honor Code, which is available in both print and web versions of the Student Handbook.

Students with Disabilities: Students with disabilities that entail academic accommodations must contact the Student Life Office, University Center 112, tel.: 942-2193, to request them. Please make this request as soon as possible so that appropriate arrangements can be made.
