SEC 6323 Security Issues in Europe I

Course Description/Overview

This course examines the historic, cultural, economic, social and geographic traits that distinguish this region and shape its domestic political processes and interstate relations. Students will critically compare the politics, governments and orientations of European states and important regional powers. The course also covers contemporary regional issues, such as democratization, arms control and regional integration, with a particular emphasis on security concerns. The class explores in details the development of the Atlantic Alliance of 1949 which then became the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), a military organization, under United States leadership and how NATO has affected security on both the regional and world stages. The course concludes with an evaluation of NATO's status in contemporary times and the role that it may play in the future.

Course Objectives/Learning Outcomes

The course aims at creation of a complex understanding of the bases of contemporary European security architecture. The main goal of the course is to cover diverse range of security issues, threats and challenges to the European countries and provide an introductory discussion leading to a more advanced topical coverage in Security Issues in Europe II. As a result of completing this course, the student will be able to:

Objective One: Apply the knowledge of the multiple issues of security concern to the European countries gained during the course for their future research
Objective Two: Analyse the causes of contemporary threats and challenges to the European security
Objective Three: Conduct independent study on the topics vital to keeping peace on the European continent

Grading Policies
This course employs writing assignments and weekly discussions to measure student learning.

Angelo State University employs a letter grade system. Grades in this course are determined on a percentage scale:

A = 90 – 100 %
B = 80 – 89 %
C = 70 – 79 %
D = 60 – 69% 1500
F = 59 % and below.

Writing Guidelines

Each writing assignment deals with the topic under discussion. These writing assignments cumulatively account for 75% of the student's grade. Writing assignments are expected to be about 1500 - 2000 words.

Formal academic writing uses standardized styles and citation formats. The preferred format is the APA style. To access the APA writing guidelines go to this link: http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/01/. Should you wish to use CHICAGO style that will be acceptable. The Chicago Style guide can be found at http://www.chicagomanualofstyle.org. Papers should have 1-inch margins all around. You are expected to use a standardized font - preferably Times New Roman, 12 point. Cite your references in EVERY instance and include a properly formatted reference list and cover page with every assignment.

Every writing assignment should be submitted as a WORD or PDF document. If you do not have Microsoft Office or Adobe Acrobat, then copy the text you have written directly into the assignment section of Blackboard during the appropriate week. Do NOT submit writing assignments in Word Perfect, Microsoft Works, or some e-mail format. They will not be accepted.

Communication

Participation

In this class everyone, brings something to the table. Your ideas and thoughts do count, not only to me, but the entire class. Feel free to ask questions either via e-mail or the discussion board. Check the discussion board regularly. Many student questions are applicable to the class as a whole, as are the responses. You may be surprised how many of your classmates have the same questions and concerns as you. I may simply post your particular question on the discussion board and allow your classmates to provide the answer through their own posts.

To some, this may be their first online class and naturally, it could seem somewhat intimidating. As a class, we are together to help each other with this learning process and share our collective knowledge on how best to communicate; how to resolve technical issues that may arise (if we have the expertise), and to assist each other to find answers to our questions.

We will learn and work as a team.

Courtesy and Respect

Courtesy and Respect are essential ingredients to this course. We respect each other's opinions and respect their point of view at all times while in our class sessions. The use of profanity & harassment of any form is strictly prohibited (Zero Tolerance), as are those remarks concerning one's ethnicity, life style, race (ethnicity), religion, etc., violations of these rules will result in immediate dismissal from the course.
