Course Description

ASU Catalog: “A survey of American development from Reconstruction to the present, with emphasis on America in world affairs.”

About the Course

This course will cover the Gilded Age through the new millennium and will showcase the major events and trends of the North American continent during these time periods as a new changes were processed for the region’s society and cultural identity. Several themes will be explored such as North America’s role within the global network, changes within society, and the progression of broader trends and patterns. These themes will be tracked through the succession of the eras ranging from the rise of the corporation, expanding global role, the call for societal change, and other new challenges facing the continent. The areas of focus will be presented by means of course readings, lectures, and assignments as students are expected to make connections to the content by providing appropriate analysis.

Course Objectives

- To examine historical processes across a range of time periods and cultures
- To analyze the effects of social, political, economic, and global forces on this nation
- To understand the evolution and current role of the U.S. in the world
- To identify and understand differences and commonalities within diverse cultures

Course Requirements

The semester workload will consist of weekly Discussion Posts (with one reply), weekly Quizzes over the material, and periodical Primary Source Analyses. Specific due dates will be listed in the Course Outline for the weekly assignments. Unless otherwise stated, the initial Discussion
Post will be due every Wednesday, the replies to the Discussion Post will be due every Friday, and the Quizzes will be due every Sunday.

In addition, there will be two Research Papers and a Mid-Term and Final Exam with the specific due dates in the Course Outline.

Discussion Posts & Replies
You are required and expected to provide one substantive post that covers the week’s topic. The post should be at least 100-150 words in length and be written at a college level, meaning full sentences and no slang. Replies should be at least 50-100 words with the same expectation for college level work. You are not limited to posting just once and can post as many times as you would like as long as it relates to the class and you are welcome to make your posts as long and detailed as possible or pose new questions for your classmates. Unless otherwise stated or posted, the initial discussion post will be due every Wednesday and the reply will be due every Friday. There will be 15 for the semester.

Quizzes
The weekly quizzes will range from 10-25 questions depending on the week’s topic and will be due every Sunday. The quizzes will be taken online through Blackboard. There will be no time limit when the quiz is started, you will be allowed to log off and back on to the quiz, and you will have two attempts where I will take the highest grade. A review will be provided at the end of each week for the quiz. There will be 15 for the semester.

Primary Source Analysis Assignment
These will not be weekly assignments and the specific due dates will be listed in the Course Outline. It is essential that you learn how to work with primary sources in order to truly make your arguments based on past events. A selection of short Primary Sources will be provided, and you will just have to pick one for the week it is due. A template with specific questions about the primary source will provided and will be substantially filled out after reading the source. It will be turned in digitally. There will be 6 of these for the semester.

Research Papers
Two short research papers will be assigned, one at the mid-point and one at the end of the class. The papers will involve multiple prompts that you will get to select from, and the overall paper should be between 1000-1500 words at least. Students will be evaluated based on their ability to make a coherent argument, display critical thinking, and supporting each point with evidence. Writing skills will be integral to the assessment. Students will use Chicago Style citations with footnotes.
Mid-Term & Final Exam
Both exams will be taken online with no time limit and with two attempts. The exams will be given in a testing window and students will be allowed to log in and out of the test within the timeframe.

Grades

Student Absence for Observance of Religious Holy Days
A student who intends to observe a religious holy day should make that intention known in writing to the instructor prior to the absence. See ASU Operating Policy 10.19 Student Absence for Observance of Religious Holy Day for more information
Incomplete Grade Policy

It is policy that incomplete grades be reserved for student illness or personal misfortune. Please contact faculty if you have serious illness or a personal misfortune that would keep you from completing course work. Documentation may be required. See ASU Operating Policy 10.11 Grading Procedures for more information.

Student Conduct Policies

Academic Integrity

Students are expected to maintain complete honesty and integrity in all work. Any student found guilty of any form of dishonesty in academic work is subject of disciplinary action and possible expulsion from ASU.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is a serious topic covered in ASU’s Academic Integrity policy in the Student Handbook. Plagiarism is the action or practice of taking someone else’s work, idea, etc., and passing it off as one’s own. Plagiarism is literary theft.

In your discussions and/or your papers, it is unacceptable to copy word-for-word without quotation marks and the source of the quotation. It is expected that you will summarize or paraphrase ideas giving appropriate credit to the source both in the body of your paper and the reference list.

Papers are subject to be evaluated for originality via Turnitin. Resources to help you understand this policy better are available at the ASU Writing Center.

Copyright Policy

Students officially enrolled in this course should make only one printed copy of the given articles and/or chapters. You are expressly prohibited from distributing or reproducing any portion of course readings in printed or electronic form without written permission from the copyright holders or publishers.
