Course Description:

Performance experience in a large ensemble. Students selected by audition or at the discretion of the orchestra director. This course fulfills the large ensemble requirement for music majors. Course may be repeated for credit.

Course Content:

Students will be exposed to orchestral literature from a variety of styles and periods. Students will perform two or three public concerts each semester and will learn a variety of rehearsal techniques and procedures leading to a successful performance.

Course Objectives:

• Acquire skills in working with others as a member of a team
• Develop creative and critical thinking
• Concert performance of prepared music
• Learn rehearsal and concert protocols used by professional groups in the field

ATTENDANCE POLICY:

In order to nurture professional responsibility and expectations and to maintain quality standards with the ASU Symphony Orchestra, attendance and punctuality are required at all scheduled rehearsals and performances. Attendance will be taken at each rehearsal.

The musicians are asked to notify Dr. Rocha by email if an absence is the result of sickness, an unavoidable professional engagement conflict, or any emergency. Woodwinds, brass, and percussion are asked to try and find a substitute to cover the absence when possible. Within 48 hours of an absence for illness or a personal emergency, the musician must email an explanation stating the date of the absence and the circumstances in order for Dr. Rocha to consider an excused absence. He will notify the student in writing if the absence is not excused. Do not approach Dr. Rocha right before a rehearsal or a performance with a personal conflict. For professional or personal unavoidable conflicts, please set up an appointment with Dr. Rocha at least two weeks in advance to discuss the conflict and receive approval. With the exception of unavoidable emergency situations, there will be no excused absences during the week of a concert. Do not put yourself in an uncomfortable position by accepting an engagement before acknowledging your responsibility to the ASU Symphony Orchestra.

Each unexcused absence will lower the semester grade by a full letter.

Unexcused absence of a dress rehearsal or performance will result in failure of the course.

For an excused absence for a religious holiday or an approved University trip, please discuss the absence with Dr. Rocha in advance.

Orchestra rehearsals are scheduled classes; please plan ahead and discuss conflicts with your professors and colleagues.

Please check the official ASU Symphony schedule with your personal and professional calendar. If you have any unavoidable conflicts (academic, personal, or professional), please make an appointment to discuss the situation with Dr. Rocha as soon as possible in order to find a just compromise that will satisfy your performance responsibility and protect the integrity of the ASU Symphony Orchestra. As long as Dr. Rocha is aware of the problem, he will do everything possible to find a workable solution.

Tardy: You are considered tardy if you are not in your seat and prepared to rehearse by the tuning note. The musicians should be on stage a minimum of ten minutes before the tuning note at a performance. Unexcused tardiness to three rehearsals per semester will count as one unexcused absence. Please email Dr. Rocha with an explanation if the tardiness is to be considered excused.

With respect for the ASU Symphony, the music, and your colleagues, the use of cell phones or any electronic devices will not be allowed during rehearsals. Such unprofessional behavior will result in the lowering of the semester grade.

Orchestra Music: All musicians are expected to return music in a similar condition that it was distributed. Damaged or missing music is subject to replacement costs by the musician(s). Semester grade for the student will not be submitted until all music is returned to the ASU Symphony librarian.

COURSE EXPECTATIONS:

A. Individual technical and artistic preparation of the scheduled ASU Symphony repertoire, and appropriate improvement demonstrated throughout the term. The conductor reserves the right to request a "private hearing" of any student throughout the term in order to evaluate the student's appropriate preparation of the repertoire being studied and performed.

B. Demonstration of professional attitude, cooperation, effort, support, and productive involvement in the Orchestra program. Any orchestra is only as good as EACH musician in the ensemble!

GRADES:
Semester Grades will be determined by a qualitative assessment of the student's performance progress, effort, attitude, and attendance throughout the semester. Students will be evaluated weekly in their rehearsals, sectionals, performances, and possible "private hearing" evaluation session. Students may certainly sign up for an appointment with Dr. Rocha at their convenience to discuss what kind of grade their current work merits.

ORCHESTRAL SEATING:

Participation in the ASU Symphony requires a Fall or Spring audition. Acceptance is based on the level of technical and artistic proficiency and the overall potential demonstrated in the audition. For educational reasons, the ASU Symphony will use rotating seating for all sections throughout the year. The concertmaster, assistant, and associate principal string players will rotate within the front one or two stands. The conductor in collaboration with the applied faculty will assign individual parts for the woodwinds and brass, and the seating rotation for the strings. A principal player will be appointed in each section of the orchestra. Even though the principal player will not always be playing first chair, the responsibility of this position is one of leadership and organization within the section and communication between the conductor and the section members. Special auditions may be called for major solos in some repertoire. These auditions will be open to all members of the ASU Symphony.

Required Use of Masks/Facial Coverings by Students in Class At Angelo State University

As a member of the Texas Tech University System, Angelo State University has adopted the mandatory Facial Covering Policy to ensure a safe and healthy classroom experience. Current research on the COVID-19 virus suggests there is a significant reduction in the potential for transmission of the virus from person to person by wearing a mask/facial covering that covers the nose and mouth areas. Therefore, in compliance with the university policy students in this class are required to wear a mask/facial covering before, during, and after class. Faculty members may also ask you to display your daily screening badge as a prerequisite to enter the classroom. You are also asked to maintain safe distancing practices to the best of your ability. For the safety of everyone, any student not appropriately wearing a mask/facial covering will be asked to leave the classroom immediately. The student will be responsible to make up any missed class content or work. Continued non-compliance with the Texas Tech University System Policy may result in disciplinary action through the Office of Student Conduct.
