Course Information

Learning can be defined as "the acquisition of information, based on successful or unsuccessful experiences, that results in a relatively permanent change in behavior potential". Thus, learning may be conceived of as the process by which we acquire knowledge; in contrast, memory involves the subsequent use of that knowledge.

Memory on the other hand, is an aspect of "cognition" which includes not only memory but such topics as problem solving, concept formation, language, attentional processes, and decision making. This course will review theories of classical and instrumental conditioning, biological constraints on learning and memory, memory formation, and thinking and language.

Quizzes

- There will be twelve (15 item) online quizzes (Bb) covering the chapter(s) assigned that week. Each quiz is worth 30 points each (390 total points). Students may take the quizzes three times with the higher score counting toward the course grade. There will be a 30 minute time limit. Quizzes are open book and open note. The quizzes will begin on July 12th with three to four (4) quizzes added each week. The quizzes will be available until the end of the week, (Sunday @ 11:59 p.m.), in which they are posted. The quizzes will be found in the folder, oddly enough, named “quizzes”. The quiz number, e.g. quiz6 refers to the chapter (chapter 6).

Be aware that the quizzes are randomly generated from a test bank so no two quizzes will be identical.

You may take each week's quiz at any time before it's closing time (11:59 p.m.) and date (posted above), which is always a Sunday of the posted week. After the quiz closes it will not be reopened, except for equipment malfunctions or a noted medical emergency.

Graded Forum Discussions

- 2) At the end of each module there will be three to four discussion questions covering the module information. The question or statement may occasionally describe a hypothetical situation and ask for a hypothetical response. Hypothetical does not mean you should abandon reason and throw thoughtful response out the window by saying whatever comes to mind. You will find the discussions tab on the main Bb page. These "discussions" should be considered as mini research papers rather than a casual conversation. The guidelines for what will be expected in the discussion are:
- You are to select one and only one discussion topic to answer for each module. Once selected, you will write a logically constructed essay of at least 250 words but not to exceed 500 words. This is not an exercise in opinion wielding. In other words, treat your response like you would a research paper. Any claim made in your response must have supporting evidence, if it does not it will be considered an unsupported claim. Unsupported claims will result in point loss.
 - Answers must be supported by empirical evidence, from either the book or other reputable (preferably peer reviewed) sources. Personal (anecdotal) experience is not evidence. You may use personal experience to highlight or emphasize a point, but try to remember that your experience is not everyone's experience so it cannot be the main point of your essay.
 - How do you avoid making an unsupported claim?

"I think...", "I believe...", "I feel...", "My cousin Jack..."

If you start a sentence/explanation with any of these (or similar), an alarm should start going off in your head. The examples given are most often precursors to an unsupported claim. You can use precursors like these if the author clearly follows with the necessary support which might look something like "I think-(fill in the blank)-which is consistent with the observations of Johnson & Johnson (2016)..." Anything else would be considered an unsupported anecdote.

- Answers are to be submitted as a thread in the discussion forum by 5pm the Sunday in which it is posted (see schedule). The instructor reserves the right to use plagiarism prevention software. Each answer will be graded based on a total point value of 100 (400 possible points).
- Lastly, you must also comment on at least one (1) other students' answer by 11:59 pm Sunday – failure to do so will result in an automatic loss of 20 points. Comments are to be civil and professional in nature and address the substance of the answer (e.g., NOT “I really liked your answer” or “I agree with everything you say”).

Communication

Faculty will respond to email and/or telephone messages within 24 hours during working hours Monday through Friday. Weekend messages may not be returned until Monday.

Written communication via email: All private communication will be done exclusively through your ASU email address. Check frequently for announcements and policy changes. In your emails to faculty, include the course name and number (Learning and Memory, PSY 3303) in the subject line.

Virtual communication: Office hours and/or advising may be done with the assistance of the telephone, Collaborate, Skype, etc. Additionally, there may be virtual “lecture” sessions through Collaborate. This would be exploratory for feasibility. You will receive additional information regarding virtual lecture possibilities.

“Netiquette”: Forum posts should be professional in nature. You will be expected to engage in forum activities with your classmates. The topic of this course can be very polarizing and impassioned, which can result in vigorous conversation which is perfectly acceptable in the context of this class. However, there is no tolerance for hate speech, name calling or ad-hominem attacks. We will engage in respectful conversation at all times.

Evaluation and Grades

Course grades will be determined as indicated in the table below.

Assessment		Percent/Points of Total Grade
Weekly Quiz	(12)	360

Assessment		Percent/Points of Total Grade
Forum Discussions	(4)	400
Total		760 points (100%)

Grading System

Course grades will be dependent upon completing course requirements and meeting the student learning outcomes.

The following grading scale is in use for this course:

A = 90.00-100

B = 80.00-89.99

C = 70.00-79.99

D = 60.00-69.99

F = 0-59.99

Teaching Strategies

Students are expected to be “active learners.” It is a basic assumption of the instructor that students will be involved (beyond the materials and lectures presented in the course) discovering, processing, and applying the course information using peer-review journal articles, researching additional information and examples on the Internet, and discussing course material and clinical experiences with their peers. This is especially true of a graduate class.

This is an online class and as such is largely self-paced.

1. It is your responsibility to check the syllabus frequently and know when assignments are due.
2. It is a VERY good idea to not wait until the last minute to do assignments.
3. “Lectures” will be posted by chapter as it is assigned (approximately 1 per week,) and placed in a folder entitled lecture material. “Lectures” will be designed to supplement the reading of assigned chapters.
4. Questions and comments are always welcome!

Assignment and Activity Descriptions

Assignment Submission

All assignments MUST be submitted through the Assignments link in the Blackboard site. This is for grading, documenting, and archiving purposes. Issues with technology use arise from time to time. If a technology issue does occur regarding an assignment submission, email me at steven.brewer@angelo.edu and attach a copy of what you are trying to submit. Please contact the IT Service Center at (325) 942-2911 or go to your Technology Support tab to report the issue. This lets your faculty know you completed the assignment on time and are just having problems with the online submission feature in Blackboard. Once the problem is resolved, submit your assignment through the appropriate link. This process will document the problem and establish a timeline. Be sure to keep a backup of all work.

Late Work or Missed Assignments Policy

Late Work Policy

The course is set up on weekly modules. The week begins on Monday and ends on Sunday. Assignment due dates are shown on the calendar/schedule or posted within Blackboard. Late assignments are not accepted without prior approval of faculty. Faculty reserve the right to deduct points for late assignments that are accepted past the original due date.

General Policies Related to This Course

All students are required to follow the policies and procedures presented in these documents:

- Angelo State University Student Handbook¹
- Angelo State University Catalog²

Student Responsibility and Attendance

Online: This class is asynchronous, meaning you do not have to be on-line at a certain time. There are readings which you will have to complete to be able to adequately participate in boards, course projects, reflective logs, etc. Students are expected to engage in course activities and submit work by due dates and times. The hope is that students will make substantive contributions which reflect integration of assigned materials as well as any outside readings as appropriate. Scholarly contribution is an expectation. For planning purposes, this class will probably require a minimum of 6-9 study hours per week on average. I am attempting to integrate Collaborate with my teaching style and the online delivery format. Collaborate should provide an excellent resource allowing us to meet in a virtual setting much like a face to face course. That said, I did not originally plan this course with collaborate in mind so I will not require participation in a Collaborate but I strongly encourage it.

Academic Integrity

Students are expected to maintain complete honesty and integrity in all work. Any student found guilty of any form of dishonesty in academic work is subject of disciplinary action and possible expulsion from ASU.

The College of Health and Human Services adheres to the university's Statement of Academic Integrity.³

Accommodations for Students with Disabilities

ASU is committed to the principle that no qualified individual with a disability shall, on the basis of disability, be excluded from participation in or be denied the benefits of the services, programs or activities of the university, or be subjected to discrimination by the university, as provided by the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), the Americans with Disabilities Act Amendments of 2008 (ADAAA) and subsequent legislation.

Student Disability Services is located in the Office of Student Affairs, and is the designated campus department charged with the responsibility of reviewing and authorizing requests for reasonable accommodations based on a disability. It is the student's responsibility to initiate such a request by contacting an employee of the Office of Student Affairs, in the Houston Harte University Center, Room 112, or contacting the department via email at ADA@angelo.edu. For more information about the application process and requirements, visit the Student Disability Services website.⁴ The employee charged with the responsibility of reviewing and authorizing accommodation requests is:

Dallas Swafford
Director of Student Disability Services

Incomplete Grade Policy

It is policy that incomplete grades be reserved for student illness or personal misfortune. Please contact faculty if you have serious illness or a personal misfortune that would keep you from completing course work. Documentation may be required. See ASU Operating Policy 10.11 Grading Procedures⁵ for more information.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is a serious topic covered in ASU's Academic Integrity policy⁶ in the Student Handbook. Plagiarism is the action or practice of taking someone else's work, idea, etc., and passing it off as one's own. Plagiarism is literary theft.

In your discussions and/or your papers, it is unacceptable to copy word-for-word without quotation marks and the source of the quotation. It is expected that you will summarize or paraphrase ideas giving appropriate credit to the source both in the body of your paper and the reference list.

Papers are subject to be evaluated for originality. Resources to help you understand this policy better are available at the ASU Writing Center.⁷

Student Absence for Observance of Religious Holy Days

A student who intends to observe a religious holy day should make that intention known in writing to the instructor prior to the absence. See ASU Operating Policy 10.19 Student Absence for Observance of Religious Holy Day⁸ for more information.

Copyright Policy

Students officially enrolled in this course should make only one printed copy of the given articles and/or chapters. You are expressly prohibited from distributing or reproducing any portion of course readings in printed or electronic form without written permission from the copyright holders or publishers.

Syllabus Changes

The faculty member reserves the option to make changes as necessary to this syllabus and the course content. If changes become necessary during this course, the faculty will notify students of such changes by email, course announcements and/or via a discussion board announcement. It is the student's responsibility to look for such communications about the course on a daily basis.

Student Evaluation of Faculty and Course

Students in all programs are given the opportunity to evaluate their courses and the faculty who teach them. Evaluations are most helpful when they are honest, fair, constructive, and pertinent to the class, clinical experience, or course. Faculty value student evaluations, and use student suggestions in making modifications in courses, labs and clinical experiences.

Angelo State University uses the IDEA (Individual Development and Educational Assessment) system administered through Kansas State University for all course evaluations. The Office of Institutional Research and Assessment administers IDEA for the entire university, online and has established a policy whereby students can complete course evaluations free from coercion.
