Teaching Philosophy
I believe that all students can learn mathematics given appropriate instruction and by appropriate practice. I understand that each student is unique and possesses a variety of experiences which they can bring to bear on their learning and interactions with classmates. I recognize that all individuals have a right to mutual respect and to be accepted by others without biases based on differences of any kind.

Course Information

Course Description
A survey of ideas in contemporary mathematics. Topics may include graphs and networks, theory of elections and apportionment, statistics, and mathematical models. Recommended for students who wish to satisfy their core mathematics requirement but do not plan to take additional mathematics coursework.

Prerequisite and Co-requisite Courses
Completion of Mathematics Texas Success Initiative (TSI) requirements.
Prerequisite Skills
Accessing Internet websites and proficiency with a scientific calculator are expectations of this course.

Student Learning Outcomes
Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

- The students will demonstrate factual knowledge including the mathematical notation and terminology used in this course. Students will read, interpret, and use the vocabulary, symbolism, and basic definitions used in a selection from the following topics: basic algebraic techniques, voting theory, apportionment, the mathematics of money, probability, statistics, graph theory, and geometry.

- The students will be able to describe generalizations of mathematics to real-world situations. Students will be able to describe, for example, the role played by mathematics in the theory of voting. The students will be able to describe connections between mathematical concepts and natural and societal phenomena.

- The students will apply the course material along with techniques and procedures covered in this course to solve various problems and improve decision making. The students will apply such topics related to statistics and probability to improve decision making through a broader understanding of mathematics. They will learn to analyze problems using mathematical ideas and symbolism and learn to obtain the appropriate resources required to better deal with such problems.

- The students will develop specific skills, competencies, and thought processes sufficient to support further study or work in this field or related fields. Students will develop new approaches and algorithms for solving problems related to networking, scheduling and paths.

Course Delivery
This is a face-to-face course with online components that students are expected to access in Blackboard.

Required Texts and Materials
Excursions in Modern Mathematics 9th ed. by Peter Tannenbaum, Prentice Hall. You are not required to have a paper copy, an electronic copy is available with your My Math Lab access. Your campus may have purchased access for you, so check with them before you purchase one yourself. Once you have acquired an access code, you will need to set up your account for this course through Blackboard.

Technology Requirements
To successfully complete this course, student needs to have regular and reliable access to a computer, webcam, and printer. Please note that tablets and phones will not always support the online tools utilized in this course. A reliable internet connection is also required. Further, student will need to have access to a scanner or a scanner application for turning in pencil/paper assignments. A scientific or graphing calculator will be allowed on assessments. If you are planning to use campus owned technology, get a copy of the hours of operation for the various locations and set your study schedule accordingly. For technology assistance, contact the IT Service Center, which is located in MCS 111. Their phone number is (325) 942-2911 or check out their web page Tech Support.

Communication
Faculty will respond to email and/or telephone messages within 24 hours during working hours Monday through Friday. Weekend messages may not be returned until Monday.

Written communication via email: All private communication will be done exclusively through your ASU email address. Check frequently for announcements and policy changes. In your emails to faculty, include the course name and section number in your subject line.

Virtual communication: Office hours may be done with the assistance of Collaborate, which is included in Blackboard.

Grading System
Course grades will depend on completing course requirements and meeting the student learning outcomes.
This course uses the following grading scale:

- A = 89.5 - 100 points
- B = 79.5 – 89.5 points
- C = 69.5 – 79.5 points
- D = 59.5 – 69.5 points
- F = 0-59.4 points

Assignment and Activity Descriptions

Assignment and Homework Policy

- Assignments will be accessed through Blackboard. Student will be expected to print out files as assigned. Student is also expected to work problem sets from text and access other assignments through MyMathLab.
- Due dates will be shown in course calendar in Blackboard. Any student who is having trouble meeting a set deadline must contact the instructor before the assignment is due during regular business hours.
- Pencil and paper assignments will be submitted through Gradescope.
- At the end of the semester, the three lowest assignment/homework scores will be dropped.

Assessments

- We will have four regular tests and a non-comprehensive final exam. A calculator is allowed for each assessment.
- If you miss an exam, you need to get in touch with me immediately! You may be required to take a comprehensive final exam to compensate for the missing exam. If you know prior to the test that you will be absent, let me know and we can make arrangements.

Final Exam

The final exam for this course will be non-comprehensive. The final exam for this course is scheduled for December 8.
