Exhibits

Note: Each exhibit required a prospectus that included a budget, analysis of artifacts, construction data, and shipping arrangements. Additionally, I carried out field research in archives, libraries, and museums to gather information for the exhibits. Certain exhibits required travel and research in Mexico. In most cases, I supervised the construction of the exhibits and production of the exhibit catalogue. I also delivered a formal presentation to groups who visited the museum. Unless otherwise indicated, I served as the head curator of the exhibits listed below.
