

ANGELO STATE UNIVERSITY

Federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) COMPLIANCE STATEMENT

The Federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) governs the conduct of Angelo State University employees with access to student records. To ensure compliance, the university requires that employees be aware of Federal law as well as System and university regulations that govern student records. This statement clarifies the responsibilities of persons with access to student educational records. Note: Employees in the Admissions Office, Financial Aid Office, Student Bursar's Office, Graduate Studies Office, and Registrar's Office sign this agreement as a condition of employment; others sign this statement as a condition of gaining access to the student records systems.

Confidentiality. Passwords to access systems containing student records must remain confidential and never be shared with anyone. Employees must log off of the Banner student system or otherwise secure their system when leaving their computer workstation.

Education Records. Employees may access Banner student records only as required to perform assigned duties. They may not update their own record or that of a friend or relative unless using their own self-service functionality to update their personal information. Within the university, anyone whose designated responsibility requires access may use information from student records for appropriate research, educational, or service functions.

Release of information regarding a group of students (typically referred to as an "open records request"), such as a request for all seniors' mailing addresses, must be handled through the Texas Tech University System Office. Unless explicitly suppressed by the student, only "public" information may be released. See angelo.edu/ferpa for an updated list of directory information.
